

Kindergarten Roundup Dates

Names of next fall's kindergartners will be sought in "round-ups" at eight Torrance schools this week. Parents are asked to register their youngsters if they live in the Arlington, Carr, Casimir, Edison, Jefferson, Parkway, Steele or Walteria attendance zones.

Children who will be five years old before next Dec. 1 are eligible to enter kindergarten next fall. Birth certificates or other proof of birth date is required. Parents may sign up for physical exams for their children and get more information on the school program at "round-up" time.

Kindergarten round-ups are slated as follows: Arlington—Thursday, April 23; Casimir—Tuesday through Friday, April 21-24.

NEW ELKS CLUB—This is an architect's sketch of the new Elks Club, for which bids are now being received. The club house, to be constructed within six months on a one-acre parcel on the south side of Abalone St., south of Carson St., will cost approximately $150,000, according to Exalted Ruler Marvin Pike. The building, which will include club rooms, a bar, restaurant, and other facilities, will have floor space in excess of 11,000 square feet.

21-24: Jefferson—Tuesday and Wednesday, April 21 and 22; again May 14; Steele—Monday through Friday, April 20-24.

Book Discussion Club Formed in Torrance Area

Shakespeare and Karl Marx are among the authors used to stimulate discussion in the local group of the Great Books Discussion program, which is a series of short books and excerpts the members read at home and discuss at informal meetings held on alternate Friday evenings.

New members are welcomed by the group, whose next meeting will be Friday in the cafeteria of Roosevelt School, at 3532 Compton Blvd., 8 p. m. This particular group, which

Torrance Executive Elected Head of Organ Company, Bares New Product

F. Roy Chilton, president of Magna Electronics, Inc., of Torrance, has been elected president of the Estey Corporation by the board of directors, according to Arnold Bernhard, chairman of the board.

Chilton as president of the newly financed corporation, formerly the Estey Organ Company, will direct its operations in both the eastern as well as the new western facilities in Torrance.

He has been associated as president of Magna Electronics, Inc., electronic musical instrument manufacturers, since 1956. Prior to that time, he established the Thomas Organ Company in Los Angeles. Under his management, Thomas Organ progressed to second place nationally in unit sales in the organ industry in less than one year.

Chilton announced development of the new Estey console chord organ, priced at $199.50 by America's oldest manufacturer of quality reed, pipe and electronic organs. Designed by furniture craftsmen, the attractive modern cabinet with gold-tone appointments is adult size and houses a full set of 8-foot diapason reeds and a 40-base chord section. The organ keys of this instrument are full size, not miniature, and chord buttons are clearly marked and widely spaced for beginners' ease in playing.
